The Brussels Conterence The International Bimetallic Confer-

terday, may prove to be of immense benefit to the world, as we expect it to prove, or may turn out, as we do not expect it to turn out, to be a gathering of men who are too wise to read the signs of guments on the side of their opponents.

But we have high authority for believing that "in the multitude of counsellors there is safety"; and as the Brussels conference will be the largest assemblage of anancial experts that ever met together to consider such questions as those which will claim the attention of that conferference we may reasonably expect at least a "safe" outcome to be the result of the dehberations of that body. The nations which provided for being represented in the Brussels conference are England. France, Germany, Spain, Portugal, Aus. tria-Hungary, the United States of America, and many others of less dignity and influence. The cable will tell to-day, or soon, how many of them are represented. The delegates from this country are Senator Allison and Senator Jones, Director Lexch, of the United States Mint at Philadelphia; Representative Mo. CREARY, of Kentucky; Mr. Cannon, of New York, and Mr. WALKER, of Massachusetts, of whom, a majority are said to be opposed to the free coinage of silver. It is worthy should be, as England is said to be, upon him on the subject. the one most opposed to bimetallism. It He further said to the Associated Press is also worthy of mention that the ten-be robbing PETER to pay PAUL. How will Austria-Hungary be benefited by the adoption of a gold standard of values forced to enable her to adopt that standard? Senator Jones is so thoroughly familiar with the questions which will be considered by the Brussels conference that the people of the United States need not fear that the ablest monometallist member of that conference can gain any advantage over him in debate. Mr. GLADSTONE is a firm adherent to the gold standard, and his powerful influence will be felt at Brussels.

Massrs, Hambleton & Co., of Baltimore, stated not long ago, in their weekly letter, that India is firmly and almost mevitably established upon a silver basis, though fore it. India is a dependency of England's. The currency of the Indian government is based upon the market value of silver bullion, and the government's revenue is receivable in payable in silver. It would seem that green old age. England cannot possibly afford to establish the gold standard in India, or if

Despite the unfavorable circumstances under which the Brussels conference assembles we shall continue to hope for good results from its deliberations. We cannot believe that men so able as are the members of that conference will prove themselves unequal to the situation of the silver problem. Bimetallists as well as monometallists here at home may rest in the assurance that their respective sides of the great question will be ably and fully presented by the great men who will represent both those schools of finance.

Bad Advice. The Washington Post still argues that Congress ought to be convened in extra sion next year by Mr. CLEVELAND. It changes' in the tariff, it depends upon the mood in which the new Congress finds itself when it comes together, and as the Post has already suggested, the scener it puts together and takes up the consideration of this question the better will it be for itself and for the public business This is bad advice, and Mr. CLEVELAND will not follow it. The sooner Congress assembles, the more likely will that body be to engage in sudden, radical, and revolutionary changes in the tariff. An extra session might prove to be harmless if it were to be held in the fall of the year and thus be used to piece out the session of the new Congress.

No. "Let us have peace." The condition of our fluances is deplorable indeed, and the Republican Secretary of the Treasury gives out that he will not recommend any financial schemes. He evidently intends and desires to leave to the next Democratic Congress a legacy of monetary embarrassments. Let us, then avoid any "entangling alliances" which would infure us in the eyes of the people. The outgoing House of Representatives is Democratic by a large majority and can, by the sid of investigating committees, produce before the country a Republican re-

Uniformity of State Laws. Times advocates uniformity in the laws of the several States. It says that the Interstatutory Commission, which re-county closed its session in New York has a most landable object in view. It en-dorses the statement of the New York Commercial Bulletin, that if the commission Commercial Bulletin, that if the commission accomplished nothing more than attracting attention to the needless and trouble-some diversity of State laws its efforts would not be in rain.

Among the subjects of diverse State laws are, says the Times, "the execution of deeds, bills, notes, and commercial particles, but the desired particles of deeds, bills, notes, and commercial particles."

per generally: the regulation of days of grace and maturity, standards of weight and measure, and other matters affecting the most ordinary business transactions between citizens of different States, and in all of which the provisions of existing laws are absurdly divergent, and for no other apparent reason than that no pains have ever been taken to secure uniformity even in regard to matters that should for the most obvious reasons be uniform

throughout the States."

Supposing that Congress bad the power to correct all these evils, the Times would perhaps advocate a national law to correct them. Now, it seems to us that the proposition to allow every State to make laws of its own on the subjects of banks and cur-rency is one which ought to be condemned. But our neighbor will say that Congress has no power or right to forbid the several States to issue circulating notes, or cur-rency, or bank notes. For about thirty years Congress has exercised that power. It is too late to deny to that body the power in question.

Rats Aboard Ocean Ships. Many persons who have recently crossed the Atlantic in the Servia are bitterly com-plaining to the New York Heraid of the great number and terrible audacity of the rate which infest that ship. This is a common complaint on board most of the Atlantic liners. Generally neither apology nor excuse is made for the existence of these horrible pests, but when anything at all is said in an explanatory way by a ship's officers, it is that the rats come accord when the ships are lying at their docks in New York and Liverpool and that to clear out one lot of them is only to make room for another. To a certain limited extent this is true;

ence, which began work in Brussels yes- but by the proper use of traps the rats could be very much thinned out on every voyage before the ship was two days at sea, while those not caught could be made to keep down in the hold, and not invade the state-rooms and scurry over the the times and who will hearken to no ar- faces of passengers as they lie in their

To say that there is no way to keep droves of rate out of passenger's state-rooms is to admit that the ship-officers do not consider it to be a matter worthy of their attention. It is in keeping with that policy which is persistently pursued by some lines of considering the comfort of passengers of no consequence to the ship's

A REMARKABLE CASE. An Indiana Man is Saved by a Dis-

An Indiana Man is Saved by a Discovery.

A remarkable case has occurred in our territory. J. N. Berry, a man about thirty years of age, was going down rapidly. He tried physician after physician, patent medicines, home receipts—in fact, everything. He went to a noted sanitarium and returned no better. We all thought he was dying with consumption, and that only a few wesks of life were left for him.

He commenced taking Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery, and at the same time commenced to mend. He has med about two dozen bottles, and is still using it. He has gained in weight, color and strength, and is able to do light work. It is just such a case as we should have listened to rather suspiciously, but when we see it, we smot heliars it.

It has trebled our miles of "Golden Medical Discovery." JOHN HACKETT & SON, Druggists, Roanoke, Ind.

In our long experience with Linens we know of no Linens that equal them, either in regard to finish, texture, wear, or design. We have them in both cloths and napkins in a variety of grades.
